Alexander Building Construction Co. Project Manager graduates from Leadership Centre County program

State College, PA, June 24, 2011 . . . Alexander Building Construction announced that Mike

Sgriccia has graduated from the 2011 Leadership Centre County program. Leadership Centre County (LCC) is an educational program whose intent is to develop community leadership potential in emerging and existing leaders throughout Centre County. Class participants must be nominated by LCC alumni and community leaders and then go through an application process before being accepted into the program. These individuals must demonstrate the talent and commitment to participate in this program and the desire to serve their communities.

Through a succession of 11 day-long sessions, class participants are exposed to and develop an in-depth understanding of the complexities of various aspects of the community, including history, health and human services, governance, economy, environment, education, and the arts.

“Leadership Centre County provided me with an opportunity to connect and collaborate with a diverse group of professionals, while gaining extensive knowledge of the many community organizations and initiatives that make up the fabric of the Centre Region. I am confident that the programs and experiences that I was exposed to through LCC will enhance my ability to serve the community in a variety of leadership roles”, says Sgriccia.

Sgriccia started as a project engineer with Alexander in 2007 and was promoted to project manager in 2011. He graduated from Penn State University in 2007 with a B.S. and M.S. degree in civil engineering. Since joining Alexander’s State College office, he has worked on projects including the U.S. Army Reserve Center in Pleasant Gap, PA Geisinger Gray’s Woods Ambulatory Care Campus in Port Matilda, PA, and the Mount Nittany Medical Center East Wing Addition in State College, PA and is currently working on the Mount Nittany Medical Center

Cancer Center Expansion project.

In addition to being a member of Leadership Centre County, Sgriccia serves on the Board of the Central PA Builders Association, is a member of the U.S. Green Building Council, the management committee of the North Central Branch of the Green Building Association of Central PA, and the Construction Management Association of America. Sgriccia has also achieved the professional accreditation in Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design.

“Mike has shown tremendous leadership as a team member at Alexander through his work ethic and attention to detail,” says Chris Magent, General Manager, State College. “Community service is extremely important to us at Alexander and we applaud his efforts to learn more about the region where we live and work. His completion of the Leadership Centre County course will make him an even more valued member of our team and the community.”
