Alexander Building Construction Co. completes New Continuing Care Nursery and Vascular Suite at York Hospital

Harrisburg, PA, October 1, 2009 . . . Alexander Building Construction recently completed renovations to the Continuing Care Nursery and Vascular Suite at York Hospital. The existing Maternal Fetal Medicine Suite was demolished and transformed into a step-down facility to provide care for newborns requiring less intensive care than provided in the NICU. A total of nine new basinet stations were created and Lifeline medical gas and equipment rails were utilized. The Vascular Suite project consisted of demolition and renovation of approximately 11,000 square feet of existing clinical space on the second floor of York Hospital creating a new Vascular Suite. The project was located directly adjacent to the Hospital's existing 18 operating rooms and directly above the central lab for the Wellspan Health System, which operates 24 hours per day.
